NONAGA

Game author: Viktor Bautista i Roca
Strategy game for 2 players age 10 years up
Duration approx. 15 minutes

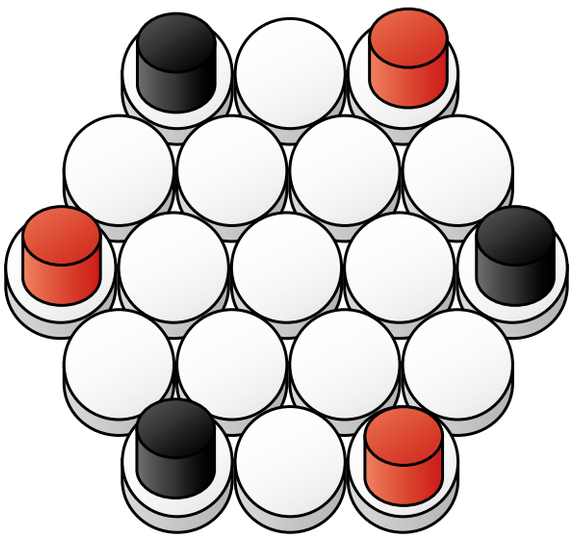
GAME MATERIALS

19 white discs
6 tokens (3 each in black and red)
OBJECT

Each player aims to be the first to place his/her three personal coloured tokens on neighbouring discs.

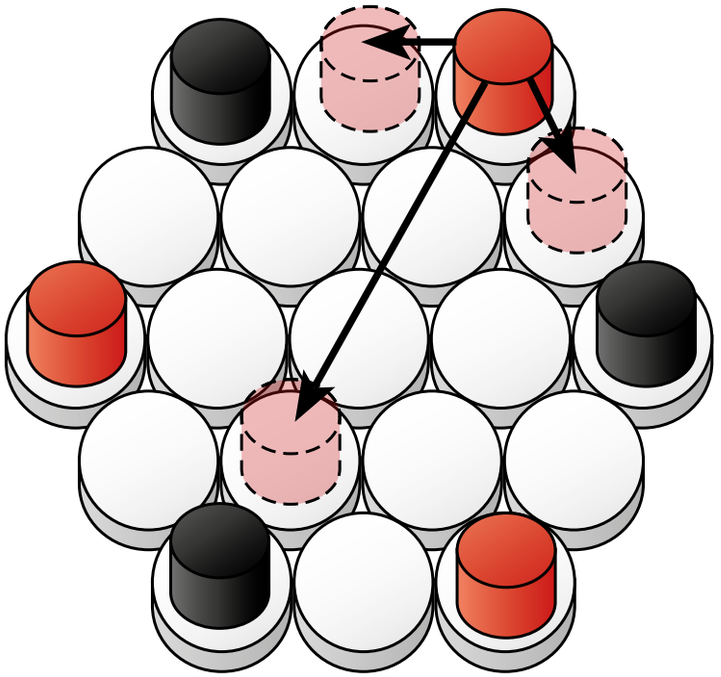
PREPARATION

The 19 discs are arranged alongside each other in a hexagon shape. The black and red tokens are placed alternately on the 6 corner fields. Each player chooses a colour. The first player is nominated.

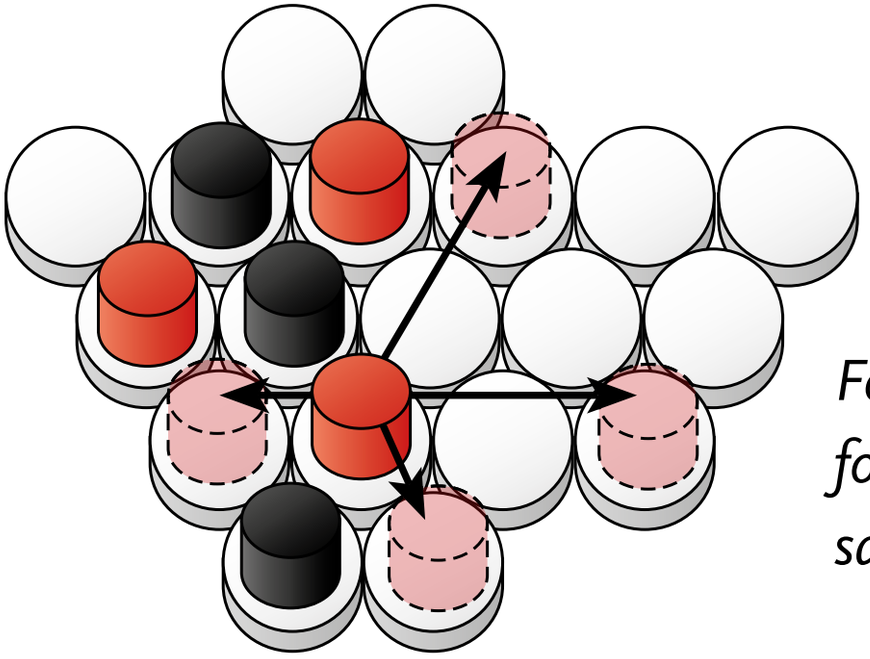


PLAY

1. Moving a token: The player on turn moves one of his tokens in any straight line up to the edge of the game field, or until it meets another token.



Red has three different options for the first move.



Four different options to move for a red token in a later game scenario.

2. Relocating a disc: After moving the token, the player takes away one free disc from the edge of the field and relocates it to another position. The following rule should now be observed:

It is only allowed to take away those discs that can be shifted out of position, without moving another disc in the process.

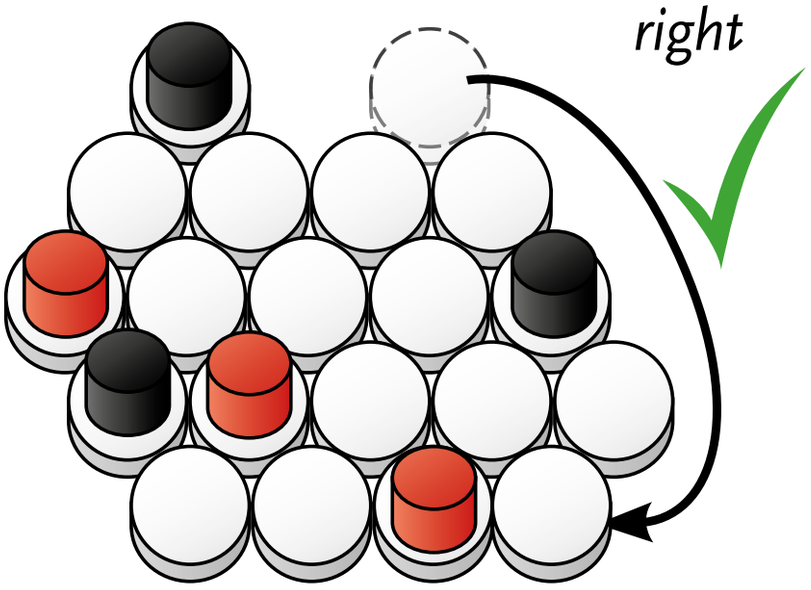
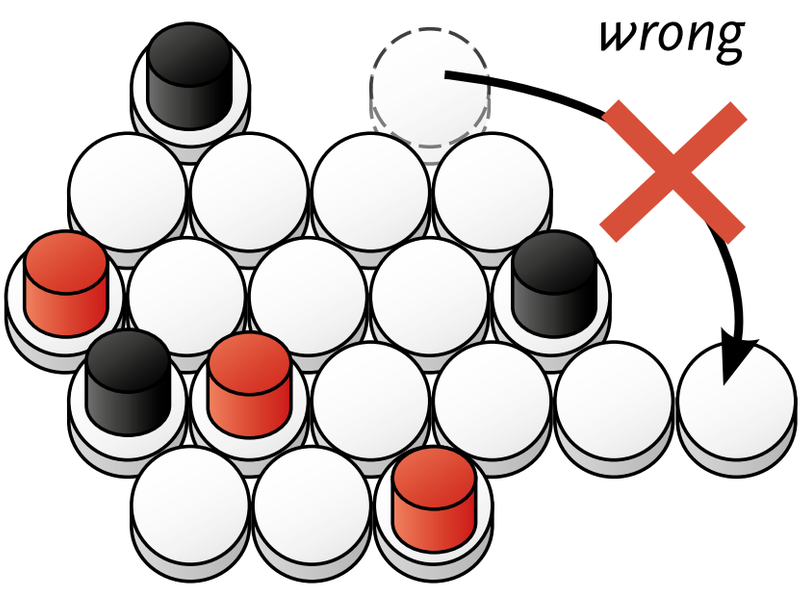
wrong

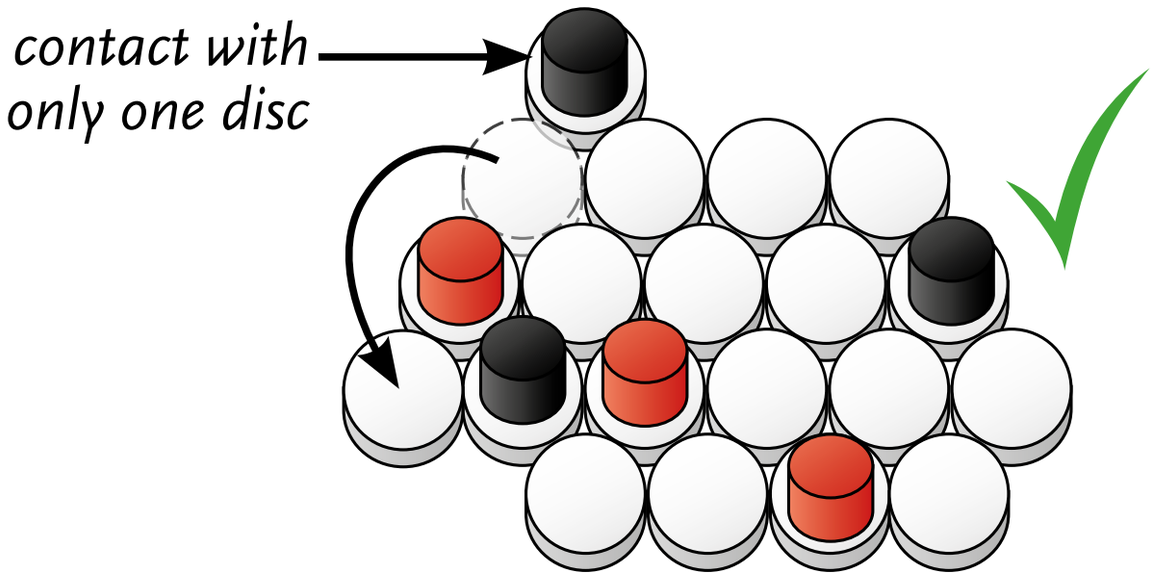
Important: In the following move the opponent is not allowed to move the disc that a player has just relocated.

When repositioning the disc, it must have contact with at least two other discs.





But it is allowed to take away a disc so that another disc has contact with only one disc after the move.



GAME END

The winner of the match is the first player who succeeds in placing all three of his own-coloured tokens on immediately neighbouring discs.

The tokens can either be connected in a straight line, a triangular shape or a tick format.

*Three winning configurations for red
